- This written opinion is the first drawn up by this International Preliminary Examining Authority.
- This opinion contains indications relating to the following items:
 - I ☒ Basis of the opinion
 - II ☐ Priority
 - III ☒ Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability
 - IV ☐ Lack of unity of invention
 - V ☒ Reasoned statement under Rule 66.2(a)(ii) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

I. Basis of the opinion

1. This opinion has been drawn on the basis of (substitute sheets which have been furnished to the receiving Office in response to an invitation under Article 14 are referred to in this opinion as "originally filed").

Description, pages:

1-38 as originally filed

Claims, No.:

1-28 as originally filed

Drawings, sheets:

1/3-3/3 as originally filed

2. The amendments have resulted in the cancellation of:

- ☐ the description, pages:
- ☐ the claims, Nos.:
- ☐ the drawings, sheets:

3. This opinion has been established as if (some of) the amendments had not been made, since they have been considered to go beyond the disclosure as filed (Rule 70.2(c)):

4. Additional observations, if necessary:

III. Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

The questions whether the claimed invention appears to be novel, to involve an inventive step (to be non-obvious), or to be industrially applicable have not been and will not be examined in respect of:

- ☐ the entire international application,
- ☒ claims Nos. 14-18,20-25,28,

because:

- ☐ the said international application, or the said claims Nos. relate to the following subject matter which does not require an international preliminary examination (specify):

- ☐ the description, claims or drawings (indicate particular elements below) or said claims Nos. are so unclear that no meaningful opinion could be formed (specify):
- ☒ the claims, or said claims Nos. 14-18,20-22,25,28 are so inadequately supported by the description that no meaningful opinion could be formed.
- ☒ no international search report has been established for the said claims Nos. 23,24.

V. Reasoned statement under Rule 66.2(a)(ii) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims
Inventive step (IS)	Claims 1-13,19,26,27
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims

2. Citations and explanations

Ad item III and V:

In the present application a nucleotide sequence (EST) has been isolated by using a differential expression assay. For said sequence which has been arbitrarily denominated "CASB12" no function has been or could be determined. Therefore, said sequence must be considered as a "classical" EST sequence.

In view of the fact that no function has been determined, there is also no problem recognisable which is solved by said sequence (or even by sequences which have a certain degree of homology).

Therefore, the question whether said sequence fulfils the requirements of Article 33.3 (or 33.2), in principle, cannot be answered, respectively has to be denied. Thus, claims which relate to the precisely defined nucleotide sequences or proteins lack an inventive activity.

From a different point of view the isolation of said sequence is also obvious in view of e.g. D1 (EMBL database entry HS1237334; accession number AA436049; 1-JUNE-1997; Hillier et al.: 'WashU-NCI human EST project.' XP002110434) which discloses part of said sequence. The isolation of a larger part which "comprises" said sequence must be regarded as being devoid of an inventive activity.

Moreover, and again in view of the fact that no function could be determined, claims which relate to the (potential) use of said sequences must be considered as being totally speculative (vaccine claims and use claims).

The same, in principle, applies for the claims directed to the protein since a protein has not been prepared.

Moreover, claims which even try to broaden the scope are unclear, since, on the one hand, the skilled person has absolutely no hint in which region the 70% identity must be maintained.

On the other hand, a variation of the sequence without an aim (i.e. to retain "a" or the function (which?)) renders the claim meaningless.

No opinion at all is possible with respect to claims 23 and 24 since said claims could not even be searched.

International application No. PCT/EP99/01894

Finally, claims which relate to SEQ ID NOs 3 and 4 are not novel over e.g. D1 (Biochim. et Biophys. Acta (1998), vol. 1399, pages 225-228) since they do not form part of the priority document.
